TEACHING AND MENTORING EXPERIENCE:Undergraduate Courses Taught

Drug Education & Behavior
 Advanced Research Methods
 Research Methods for Studying Biobehavioral Health
 Health & Human Sexuality
 Principles of Epidemiology
 Principles of the Academy/First-year Seminar
 Personal Wellness

Graduate Courses Taught

Drug Education & Behavior
 Evaluating Health Education Programs (Residential)
 Evaluating Health Education Programs (Online)

Additional Teaching Experience

Grant Writing—Co-taught graduate seminar in grant writing; shared personal grant writing experience with students; reviewed and provided feedback on drafts of specific aims and investigator biosketches

Research Methods in Biobehavioral Health—Provided teaching assistance for graduate-level research methods course; reviewed assignments; maintained web-platform used for course communication (Blackboard/Angel/Canvas); held a weekly study session to review concepts covered in class and to provide additional tutoring of difficult topics

Foundations and Principles of Health Promotion—Prepared and delivered lectures on theories of behavior change (e.g., Transtheoretical Model, Theories of Reasoned Action/Planned Behavior); mentored undergraduate teams (10-12 students) in applying theories of behavior change to understanding college student substance use

Health Promotion II: Planning, Implementation, and Evaluation—Worked with a group of students each semester (over 3 years) to apply theories of behavior change to develop a proposal to plan, implement and evaluate an intervention reducing a relevant risk behavior (e.g., alcohol use, marijuana use, sexual risk behaviors); taught group members how to translate research findings and plans into conference-style poster presentations

Select Invited Guest Lectures

Practical Applications in Prevention Program Development (UF)
 Drugs as a Social Problem: Examining the Intersection of Drugs and Sexual Violence (UF)
 Sexual Assault in the Military (UNC-Chapel Hill)
 Sexual Assault on the College Campus (University of Rhode Island)
 Using Intervention Mapping to Guide Program Development & Evaluation (George Washington University; UNC-Chapel Hill)

Research Mentoring

Post-Doctoral Trainees

Andrew Rizzo, PhD (2021 – 2024); Current position: Postdoctoral Research Associate, Georgia State University, School of Public Health & Center for Sexual Violence Prevention (PI: Dr. Amanda Gilmore)

Early Career Scientific Mentoring

Provide project-specific supervision, skills training, and professional development to staff at all educational levels and across RTI's research program areas (current position listed if no longer at RTI) through my role as project director and scientific team lead (2015 – present):

Alex Buben, MPH, Epidemiologist, Biobot Analytics

Chelsea Burfeind, MA, SUPER Program, RTI

Samantha Charm, MPH, Victimization and Resilience Program, RTI

Jennifer Counts, MPH, Mental Health, Risk, and Resilience Research Program, RTI

Jennifer Hill, MPH, Director of Jewish Student Engagement, Elon University

Jessica Morgan, PhD, VP of Research & Development, Continuous Precision Medicine

Mark Relyea, PhD, Associate Research Scientist, Yale School of Medicine

Student Community Mentoring/Advising

Sexual Violence Research Group, Department of Psychology, Winthrop University

Supervised research lab of 8 students seeking undergraduate research credit; mentored students on literature reviews, study design, data collection, technical writing, conference presentation preparation.

SWAT: Student Wellness Advocacy Team, Winthrop University

Advised a student organization interested in improving the health of students through peer education and campus programming; provided peer educator training and certification.

WAR: Women Against Rape, Winthrop University

Advised organization of female students affected by rape/sexual assault and who want to help educate others about the issue; helped organize community awareness events; provided consultation to ensure messages were accurate, evidence-based, and theory-driven.

Skin Deep, Winthrop University

Provided educational consultation to a student-run improvisational theater troupe specializing in social issues (e.g., peer pressure, alcohol, drugs, safer sex, sexual assault); provided content review to ensure content accuracy and student safety
